Sitting as a board of adjustments, planning commissioners yesterday afternoon granted a variance to Comstock Associates for a ten percent front yard setback reduction for a bedroom addition to a house on San Antonio Street. They also allowed Irish homes to divide two lots into irregular building sites on Crespi Avenue, with the understanding that oak trees on the property would be preserved.

Going through our office files this week we came across a folder full of clips, notes, and a copy of the Carmel Right to Work Ordinance, the initiative measure passed by Carmel Voters in 1958.

Subsequently, a state right to work measure was defeated in the general election, and the state supreme court ruled against several other city and county right to work ordinances. Wondering where our right to work ordinance is at present we phoned City Clerk Larry Rose.

"Right on the books," said Larry. "It's no good. It's unenforcible, but it is an initiative ordinance and nobody can get it out of the code except the people who put it there, the voters."

Salome, manipulated in the background by Puppet Master Daniel Llords, presents one of the seven veils she is shedding to Monterey County Symphony violinist Mary Smith much to the amusement of her husband, Chandler Smith, Symphony viola player.

The event temporarily disrupted a rehearsal by new conductor, Ronald Ondrejka, of the 75 musicians in the Symphony for their first concert on Tuesday evening, 8:30 o'clock, in Sunset Auditorium.

Llords' puppets will appear with the symphony in the world premiere of his ballet-mime to music from Gounod's opera, Faust, also in the finale to Offenbach's Orpheus in Hades. The symphony will play Hymn and Fuguing Tune by a former Carmel resident, composer Henry Cowell, and Bruckner's Symphony No. 4.

Board Looks Over "Cellular" Unit Junior Hi Plan

The Carmel school board delayed until November 2 final approval of the master site plan for the proposed junior high school campus at the entrance to Carmel Valley.

An architect's plan for the campus, which may be converted later for use as a high school and as the site for another elementary school, was presented before the board by Carol Rankin and Peter Sabin, both of the Ernest Kump architectural firm of Palo Alto, associates of the local firm of Elston and Cranston.

The plan showed a complex of some 15 of what the architects called "cellular units," each self-contained, with separate heating systems and other facilities, but planned for almost limitless rearrangement of play, study and lab areas for future expansion.

Focal point of the school is a large central library. A "little" theater, an auxiliary gym and playground areas on the campus perimeter are features of the plan, but not one single old-fashioned kitchen showed on the sketch.

Board members were reassured some area could be converted to kitchen use in the hardly likely case the plans for storing and serving frozen meals in the new school don't work out.

Several board members expressed a fear that facilities for the life and physical sciences were minimal, occupying not much more space than that planned for the social sciences, which necessitate

Scholarship Fete Starts With Parade Tomorrow Afternoon

Carmel High School Scholarship Carnival festivities begin tomorrow afternoon at 2:45 o'clock with a giant parade through town to arouse spirit for the big event. The carnival, put on by both parents and students, raises money for scholarships awarded to graduating seniors. Among the vehicles in the parade will be a fire engine and police car as well as a host of gaily decorated student cars. Students, in costume depicting the circus theme, will march and ride through the town to advertise the carnival. A rally at Devendorf Plaza will follow the parade.

The carnival officially opens at 11:00 o'clock Saturday morning at Carmel High School. The four classes, many school clubs, and the P-TA are sponsoring concessions for the event. Working especially hard to raise money for their own scholarships are members of the senior class. Biggest of the class attractions is the auction. In past years a wide variety of items has been auctioned including a live calf and a moving van. Exciting items, both old and new, have already been collected for this year's auction but many more are needed. Any white elephants, books, records, furniture, knick knacks, etc. would be appreciated. The following members of the senior class will arrange for donations to be picked-up: Tony Schaurer, MA 4-8774, Sally Campbell, MA 4-6953, Corey Chapman, MAyfair 4-2208, Pete Capen, OL 9-2242.

Climaxing the carnival will be the Fun Evening Event for all members of the community. Beginning at 8:00 o'clock and lasting until midnight, the evening will feature a fashion show and the crowning of the Carnival King and Queen. Dancing, entertainment and refreshments will be included. Tickets (75c) for the evening event are being sold by high school students this week and will also be available at the door. All proceeds will go to the carnival scholarships. Last June eight graduating seniors received Carnival Scholarships.

Council Refuses To O.K. Zoning Ord. "Progress"

"I think we have made great progress," Mayor Frank Putnam said happily last night after three hours' session on the proposed new zoning ordinance. The council, working as a committee of the whole, had approved great hunks of the ordinance, and they were the controversial hunks.

Three minutes later, Mayor Putnam was stunned as the "progress" of three hours was wiped out, and a magnificent example of parliamentary steering went down to defeat. The mayor discovered he had a council which cannot be manipulated, be it ever so skilfully, courteously and by an expert.

During the committee session, the mayor won approval of individual sections of the ordinance by a three to two vote, himself casting the deciding vote. Thus piecemeal the mayor had succeeded in getting the ordinance approved.

At the end of the evening, when he re-convened his council and they were asked, as a council, officially to approve the total work that had been approved bit by bit in committee, the mayor could not get this three to two majority. The two he could get to go along with him section by section in committee were not always the same two. When it came to adopting the entire work, a cumulative "no" minority had been built up into a "no" majority. They were: John Chitwood, Francis Whitaker and Gunnar Norberg.

The citizens in the audience drew a sigh of relief.

In the public hearing before the council two weeks ago the citizens asked for a council revision of the ordinance, and an extension of the interim zoning ordinance so the council could have time for proper study and action. Councilman Francis Whitaker had promised that the council would work over the ordinance "starting at the be-

Planners Bandy Ideas To Halt Gas Stations And Rooming Houses

Planning commissioners yesterday afternoon, in study session, bandied ideas to limit the number and location of gas stations in Carmel under new business district zoning. They also tried to discover means to control additions to rooming houses in the residence district.

Plans for a second Standard Oil Company service station at Junipero and Fourth and addition of a third bedroom and bath to a residence at Torres and Third, in which one room is rented to transients, precipitated the discussion.

Chairman Herbert Blanks explained to a Standard Oil representative that consideration of the gas station plans must be postponed, at least, until the commission meets next month. At that time the city council may have acted on a proposed new zoning ordinance for the business district now under consideration, he continued, or extended the interim zoning ordinance by which the commission has controlled business district building for the past six years.

Under the proposed ordinance the second Standard Oil station, in C-2 zone, could be built after a use permit was granted. Under the interim ordinance the commis-

Committee Gets Board Approval To Consult Teachers On Curricula

Carmel Unified School District's Citizens' Educational Committee got a cautious go-ahead sign from the school board last night on the committee's plan to delve immediately into a thorough study of discipline and curriculum in Carmel schools.

The new project follows the committee's recent action in getting board approval for use of report cards in lower grades. At a work session between committee and board yesterday evening, proposed report card forms for primary grades and grades four to six were given the "blessing" of the board. Parents will receive first report cards on their childrens' work shortly after November 1 and will be asked to confer with teachers on the report.

The caution with which the board approved the committee's projected moves grew out of a frank discussion of the place of the committee in the community.

Dr. Richard Bell, committee chairman, said he wanted board approval for meetings of his group with administrators, teachers and outside experts "for the free exchange of ideas and discussion." He suggested dividing his committee into subcommittees "the better to examine the many areas which need examining."

Dr. Richard Snyder, board member, said the committee "represents a greater potential threat to the morale of the school system than we realize. This is not by intention. It is inevitable. It is important that teachers and others are assured meetings with the committee are not inquisitions."

Dr. Snyder said he had great confidence in the committee and

PADRE GRIDDERS TRAVEL TO GONZALES FRIDAY NIGHT

Carmel High's varsity and junior-varsity football squads travel to Gonzales this Friday night for a pair of league tilts with the always dangerous Spartan gridders.

Tomorrow night's junior-varsity fray is scheduled to get underway at 6:00 o'clock with the varsities taking over at 8:15. The Gonzales varsity holds wins over Pacific Grove and Gustine so far this season and has dropped close decisions to Gilroy and San Lorenzo Valley. The Spartan Babes clipped Gustine, San Lorenzo Valley, and Gilroy, but dropped the nod to the strong Pacific Grove jayvees.

Equipped with a veteran backfield sparked by Buddy Rianda, the Gonzales varsity has speed to burn and has scored first on each of its four opponents so far this season. The Spartans have a nifty throwing quarterback in Joe Rosalez and topflight receivers in Coy Bearden, Erasmus Segundo, and Rianda.

The Padres will be going after their 30th undefeated game in this Friday's league tussle and they will probably find the going pretty tough against the spirited Spartan crew. The valley school has always been tough competition for the Padres and this year's clash should be no exception. Coming off two rugged tussles with King City and Merced's El Capitan, Carmel will have to be at its best to throw back the challenge of the eager Spartans.

Captain Mike Draper will lead a starting offensive unit of Scott Forbes and Doyle Clayton, ends; Bob Blair and Greg Hulsey, tackles; Frank Preve and John Wilkin, guards; Paul Rice, center; Frank Mayo, quarterback; Bill Coleman and Draper, halfbacks; and George Pollock, fullback. Mike Quarrie, Paul Jones, Dan Moore and Lee Oleson will move in to bolster the Padre defensive gang. Jim Kelley and Mike Cole have looked good in recent practice sessions and are due for action at the guard and end spots.

Tomorrow night's junior-varsity clash appears to be an even-up affair off the records of both teams against the Gilroy Broncos. The Little Padres clipped the Gilroy jayvees, 24 to 7, while the Spartan Babes outscored the same team, 18 to 6. Gonzales holds quite an edge in speed and has a heavier line while the Little Padres hold a little passing edge and have harder running backs. Coach Dick Lawitzke will pull the strategy strings for the Carmel jayvees since Fred Rainer is still touring in Europe.

Starting lineup for the Little Padres will be Pat Olmsted and Dave Harris, ends; Bart Whalen and Calvin Poissot, tackle; Bob Albee and Bill Muscutt, guards; Terry Tweedie, center; Dan Holman or Bob Larsen, quarterback; Terry Bishop and Rick Baldwin, halfbacks; and Dan Silverie, fullback. Dennis Blasius, Terry Butler, Ken Friddle, Mel Fluegge, and Gary Mumford are slated for plenty of defensive action.

PADRES AND EL CAPITAN IN 20-20 DEADLOCK

Carmel High's varsity football team travelled a long way to get a frustrating 20-20 tie with the El Capitan High eleven at Merced last Friday night. Behind, 13 to 6, at halftime, the Padres found their 28-game undefeated string in serious jeopardy going into the final period, but they pulled ahead at 20-13 with 48 seconds left only to see the Gauchos put on a desperate passing attack to tie it up in the final 9 seconds.

El Capitan put on a powerful running attack the first time it got possession of the ball and had a six pointer on the board with only 3 minutes gone on the clock. Stung by the quick Gaucho score, the Padres appeared headed for a sure score as Frank Mayo skirted the left flank for a 68-yard gallop. However, the first of nine fumbles plagued the Padres at this point and they lost the ball to the hosts on the 4-yard line. In the second period, Carmel put on a 58-yard scoring drive climaxed by Mike Draper's four-yard touchdown run. Clayton's kick was wide and the Gauchos were in front, 7 to 6. The El Capitan eleven moved to a 13-6 lead late in the second period and appeared to pack too much swift for the slower Padres.

The Gauchos kicked off to the Padres to start the second half and Frank Mayo, after being hemmed in near his goal line, squirmed free and put Carmel in business on the Gaucho 40 yard line. A well-executed pass from Frank Bucher to Mike Draper moved the Padres to the El Capitan 10 where they got touchdown number two on a pass from Bucher to Doyle Clayton. Clayton's conversion kick was true to the mark and it was all knotted at 13-13.

After seeing several scoring opportunities stopped by inopportune fumbles, Carmel finally got the go-ahead touchdown with seconds to go in the game. A pass from Frank Mayo to Clayton crossed the final stripe and Clayton's kick made it 20-13 with 48 seconds left in the game. The fighting Gauchos took just three plays to get the lock-up

Wharf Production Of Pal Joey Lacks Style

The revival of Pal Joey by the Wharf Theatre falls regrettably short of the mark set both by earlier versions at its old playhouse on the pier and by other musicals staged since its reopening at the Opera House.

Pal Joey, with its rude vigor and high-strung, low-down characters, requires a certain emphasis and style of presentation to come off successfully, and the new production doesn't have it. The acting, singing, dancing and staging are just adequate; there is a dispiritedness about the whole effort which has the effect of emasculating this most muscular of Rodgers' and Hart's creations.

To give due credit, there are happy things about the show; veteran Dee Olivetti's purring portrayal of the amoral society matron, Vera Simpson; the broad clowning of Betty Fowlston, another alumna of the old Wharf productions, as a blowsy chorine; Ruth Crews' brassy belting of the strip song called Zip; a good comedy turn by Sam Karas as Ludlow Lowell, the Chicago shakedown artist; and bright bits and pieces from the likes of Pat McKnight, Peggy Ray, and Marie Hummel, the latter as the only "nice" girl in the story.

A young actor named Joe Mazzuca was selected for the role of Joey Adams, the brash, ambitious nightclub entertainer who captures Mrs. Simpson's roving fancy. Mr. Mazzuca is a fair enough singer and hoofer, but as a heel, he is unconvincing; he makes of Joey hardly more than a cheeky kid.

Nothing can devaluate the sterling score of Pal Joey, with numbers which collectively represent some of the best tunes and rarest, rawest lyrics in show business. The Act Two opener called Flower Garden of My Heart is sung in fine parody style by Gene Lawrence, but the wonderfully witty costumes which were among the joys of the earlier productions were apparently fire casualties; this time, the "flowers" represented by the showgirls are pretty sorry-looking blooms.

The production is directed by Tom Brock, with choreography by Dale Lefler, neither of whom seem to have given of their best. A three-pice combo headed by Ernie Tweedie lines out the music with reasonable accuracy and spirit. Joanny Engle designed the settings, and P. E. Messer and Mrs. Merle Huffman are responsible for the costumes. Technical director is Vern Soden, assisted by Charles Burks and Flemen Hardy (whose talents might have been better employed on stage in the song-and-dance department).

Joey has its next performance Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock. Friday and Sunday nights, the house will be occupied by a professional revue headed by Elsa Lanchester herself - in - person, as ads say. —V. S.

LOCAL LEGION CITED FOR SERVICE TO CHILDREN

Carmel Post No. 512 of the American Legion has been cited by the American Legion National Headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, for outstanding service to the children and youth.

Announcement of the citation was made by Paul Artellan, Commander of Carmel Post.

The Commander gave most of the credit for winning the award to Alvin Chapin, James Kelsey, Fabian Era and Frank Girard who are on the Child Welfare Committee.

"Child Welfare is one of the American Legion's major programs", Commander Artellan said, "and we are proud that our efforts have been honored in this way."

All American Legion Posts are required to submit an annual report of their work for children and youth. It was on the basis of this report that Carmel Post 512 won the citation for outstanding service during the past 12 months.

Among activities which earned this recognition for the Post, the Commander listed: sponsoring Troop 86 of the Boy Scouts, giving new 50 state American flags to the schools in Carmel, Carmel Valley and Pebble Beach, Collecting money for the March of Dimes, Christmas party for children, helping The Carmel Youth Center and many other activities. The expenditures were over $1000.00.

sion could deny the station as incompatible to uses in the surrounding area. Under the existing ordinance gas stations are allowed at the Junipero and Fourth corner unconditionally. These alternatives prevented planning commissioners from studying the gas station plans yesterday. They decided to wait for clarification on this zoning problem by the city council.

Mr. Blanks catapulted commissioners into further discussion of new zoning to limit the number and locations of gas stations by suggesting creation of a zone similar to the liquor sales control area in Carmel. This new zone would be superimposed on the central business district. Controls, such as traffic flow and proximity to other stations, would decide where a station could be located, he proposed.

Mr. Blanks cited the unsuitability of allowing gas stations in areas of C-2 zone adjacent to the residence district, for example, the west side of Torres Street, Sixth to Fourth Avenues. He suggested eliminating all conditional uses by means of his proposed zone.

Commissioner Willox set the group off on a new tack by suggesting that no more gas stations be permitted in Carmel after a specified date. "We wouldn't need a new zone then," he emphasized.

Mr. Willox proposed setting the time of the passage of the new zoning law as the date beyond which no more gas stations could be built in Carmel. Mrs. Josselyn suggested a ratio of gas stations to population as a further control.

Chairman Blanks decided to discuss the date limitation with City Attorney John Morse in an endeavor to discover if such a control could be enforced. Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the Citizens Committee, spoke in commendation of Mr. Blanks liquor sales control area proposal for gas station limitation. Mr. Blanks then added this possibility to his discussion wth the city attorney.

Mr. Willox spurred him to this discussion by saying, "We haven't got anything now to stop the Standard station."

Plans for addition of a third bedroom to the house at Torres and Third confronted commissioners with the problem of how to control additional rental space in residences. Four paying guests are permitted in residence district homes.

Building Inspector Floyd Adams stated the only control he had was that any addition should have an entrance into the residence. This supposedly maintained the house as a single family residence, according to a past planning commission directive, he explained.

Mrs. Josselyn indicated that this was no basis for legal control of the number of rooms added to a home presumably for rental purposes.

Commissioners added this zoning problem to their future considerations.

was in favor of giving it "as broad a mandate as possible." He said it was because he saw the need for maintenance of the good will of the group with the school and community that he brought the matter up in the first place. "We never want people to start thinking of our relationship as 'the community versus the school system'."

Dr. Bell said he didn't see how any mistrust could arise in the atmosphere of free exchange he had in mind.

An informal decision was reached to give the committee a free hand in its discussions, pending notification of Superintendent Stuart Mitchell on the committee's actions and its consultations with teachers.

First Theatre Has 19th Century Gem In Comedy, London Assurance

By Tom Rogers

Saturday night this reporter had the good fortune to see the latest production at California's First Theatre and came away convinced The Troupers Of The Gold Coast have a sure-fire cure for a good many of the world's troubles in their presentation of London Assurance.

This wonderful old comedy, first presented March 4, 1841, at the Theatre Royal, Covent Garden, London, kept the overflow audience in continuous laughter as The Troupes, skilfully directed by Peg Miner, pulled out all the stops in presenting another 19th century gem in all its original style and humor.

New settings from the hand of Al Olinger, coupled with the elegant costumes of Rhoda Johnson, provided the authentic medium in which The Troupers so aptly performed.

London Assurance is exceptionally well cast with veteran Troupers and talented newcomers blended into a unit which deftly delivers the asides, soliloquies, and humor of the piece at a pace which never slows.

Paul Ransome, in his second roll as a Trouper, gave a solid performance as Sir Harcourt Courtly, the overaged Don Juan, who at 63 has not yet sown his wild oats. His plan to marry, sight unseen, the niece of his old friend Max Harkaway and thus restore the Courtly fortune runs afoul of an amusing set of circumstances and counterplots.

His son Charles, who has already sown a good many wild oats, enthusiastically and effectively played by John Graves, is brought home in a rather unsteady condition by a chance acquaintance, Richard Dazzle, a gentleman of no apparent means, charmingly portrayed by Al Olinger. Squire Harkaway, given an excellent portrayal by Douglas Drew, arrives and in the mistaken belief that Dazzle is a relative of Sir Harcourt's, extends an unlimited invitation to visit at Oak Hall where the wedding is to take place.

Upon arriving at Oak Hall, Dazzle, and Charles whom he has persuaded to accompany him, meet Sir Harcourt. In the ensuing confusion they are able to convince the old gentleman Charles is not his son but a stranger who bears a striking resemblance to young Courtly.

Next upon the scene is the bride-to-be, Grace Harkaway, in which personage Patsy Ramsey again demonstrates the charm and ability which has made her a favorite with First Theatre audiences. The seemingly cold and indifferent Grace meets Charles and the plot begins to thicken.

Matters become more complicated when Mark Meddle, a lawyer in search of a client, hilariously characterized by Ninev Ibrahim, arrives and immediately begins to dig for facts upon which to base a case, any case. Lawyers of that period being considered fair game by the playwrights, this is the principal low comedy roll.

The "horsiest" of English Horsewomen, Lady Gay Spanker, superbly portrayed by Barbara Ziegweid, arrives with her mousy husband, Adolphus, played by another newcomer, Bill Norris, in a manner which makes him a welcome addition to the ranks of The Troupers. They are immediately drawn into the plot by the wily Dazzle.

Orville Summers as Cool, the valet who knows when to lie; Susan Trevvett as Miss Pert the maid; and Laverne Seeman as Margaret the housekeeper; all add substantially to the plot and fun of this delightful old stage piece.

The Olio which followed was new, fast and entertaining. Paul Ransom as master of ceremonies did an excellent job of weaving the routines together.

In line with their avowed intention to make the productions as historically authentic as possible, the management now opens each performance with an overture, Hail Columbia, which opened the first performance in this old theatre in the late 1840s.

London Assurance will play every Friday and Saturday night at 8:30 through November and is recommended for the entire family.

Leonard Williams Heads New Valley Landowners Assn.

Thirteen ranchers and farmers last week organized the Carmel Valley Landowners Association and chose Leonard S. Williams as temporary chairman.

Proposed by-laws for the new group provide that membership is open to owners of over ten acres of Valley land. Also that the purpose of the association is to maintain "a constructive and beneficial interest in the development and improvement of Carmel Valley in all its phases and to gather and disseminate information for the benefit of all Carmel Valley landowners."

According to Mr. Williams, Emilio and Bruno Odello and Stuyvesant Fish, spokesmen for the group, the new organization, "Appreciates the fine work and thoughtful interest, both past and present, of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association in guarding the beauty and welfare of the Valley." However, they state that "The newly formed landowners association more closely represents and expresses the thoughts, interests and hopes of those landowners, who, though a minority, are most directly affected by any legislation, county planning and rulings pertaining to the present and future of Carmel Valley."

They estimate that when membership is complete, the association will represent 75 percent of the land area of the Valley.

Dr. Robert Stebbins To Speak Before Nature Conservancy

The annual meeting of the Monterey Bay Chapter of the Nature Conservancy will be held in the Carmel High School Library on October 28, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. Dr. Robert C. Stebbins of the University of California Museum of Vertebrate Zoology will speak on the need to preserve vanishing species of plants and animals and ways in which we might go about insuring their survival.

Dr. Stebbins will also show a 30-minute movie film, entitled Nature Next Door. This is a new film that Dr. Stebbins himself has produced, showing young people exploring for various forms of nature in the Berkeley hills. The film is now being distributed by the Sierra Club.

The Nature Conservancy is a nation-wide organization with headquarters in Washington, D.C. Its purpose is "to preserve, or aid in the preservation, of all types of wild nature, including natural areas, features, objects, flora and fauna". The Monterey Bay Chapter was organized two years ago and has been working on several different projects. The present officers are Laidlaw Williams, president; C. Edward Graves, vice-president; Vern Yadon, secretary; and John R. McDaniel, treasurer.

An invitation to attend this meeting is extended to anyone interested in the objectives of the organization.

Joseph Wolter

Joseph E. Wolter, member of a pioneer Carmel Valley family, died on October 13, the day after his seventieth birthday. He was born in Carmel Valley on land granted in 1835 to his maternal grandfather, F. Vasquez. His maternal uncle was Tiburcio Vasquez, regarded as a bandit by early American settlers in this county.

Mr. Wolter attended old Carmelo School then lived in the central part of the Valley until about 20 years ago when he sold his land in this area. Since then he had ranched in the Lower Valley. His death occurred at the home of his son, Dean, where his birthday had been celebrated the previous day.

His wife, Grace, died in 1937. Survivors, in addition to his son, Dean, of Carmel Valley, are two other sons, James Wolter of Auburn and David Wolter of Hawthorne; three brothers, Robert Wolter of Seaside, David Wolter of Monterey and Julius Wolter of Santa Rita; three sisters, Mrs. Agnes Howell of San Francisco, Mrs. Irene Kitchen and Miss Adele Wolter of Mendocino County; eight grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services, conducted by the Reverend Don Johnson of the Carmel Valley Community Church, were held on Monday in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Wolter may do so in the form of donations to the Children's House, Box 137, Carmel Valley.

United Church Women Observe On Nov. 4 World Community Day

United Church Women of the Monterey Peninsula will observe World Community Day on November 4, with a meeting at the Ocean View Baptist Church, Seaside, beginning at 11:00 o'clock with a business session. Theme for the day is Peace, Policy, and People, and the purpose is to help the nations in the underdeveloped areas of the world.

Funds contributed will be used to train native women as health workers in Chile, Ethiopia in East Africa, Nigeria in West Africa, and Burma in Southeast Asia. Home medical kits are being solicited from individuals and local churches for distribution overseas in areas which lack medical services.

Needed are packages of band aids, bicarbonate of soda, boric acid powder, gauze pads 4"x6", absorbent cotton, 2 widths adhesive tape, 6 assorted rolls bandage gauze, tooth brushes with paste or powder, bottle iodine and tubes or bottles of vaseline, and Vicks or Mentholatum. These should be wrapped and packed carefully in preferably plastic bags, tied securely and marked plainly.

In addition, every year the women's group asks for babies' and small children's nightgowns which are always needed. Funds are also desired for transportation charges, eight cents a pound, for the gifts. Distribution costs in other countries are borne by Church World Service.

All women interested in this work are invited to attend the meeting. Bring a sack lunch, and coffee will be served at 12:30 by the hostess church. The afternoon program begins at 1:30, with plans to close around 3:00.

FREEWAY FOR FREIGHT

Every day an average of 725 freight trains roll over Southern Pacific's 14,900-mile rail network in 11 Western and Southwestern states. They carry a daily average of nearly 300,000 tons of things produced, needed and used by people and industry. The ride is swift and smooth on a wide-open steel "freeway"—maintained at our expense, not the taxpayers'. No doubt about it, trains are the lowest-cost, most efficient form of transportation for carrying freight overland.

SEE-WAY FOR PEOPLE

What better way to take in the glamorama of our West and Southwest than through the big, wide-angle picture windows of an S. P. streamliner. Twenty-five running every day, on our east-west routes and on the Coast. Curl up in your comfortable Chair Car seat or Pullman room and watch the show go by...mountains, valleys, lakes, forests, shoreline, desert, cities. Relaxed surroundings for dining or refreshments, and polite, attentive service everywhere on board.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

With television debates and political speeches filling the airways, let's turn away from national problems to the wider area of the world and international problems. This week we have five new books which concern the world we live in.

Robert Heilbroner is an economist whose articles about economics and social conditions appear regularly in magazines. His first book was called The Worldly Philosophers and recently he has written a second which he titled The Future As History. The subtitle tells the story. It is The Historic Currents of Our Times and the Direction in Which They Are Taking America. This book is included in our new collection being built in memory of Miss Rachael Hiller.

And then because the shadow of the Communist world forever falls over our minds when we consider foreign affairs, let us turn to a new book entitled USSR by Thomas Fitzsimmons. This book shows clearly the political and cultural heritage which continues to shape the Soviet society.

Roscoe Drummond and Gaston Coblentz have collaborated on a book about the career of John Foster Dulles which they have called Duel at the Brink. Without an index, the reader must use the running notations following the chapter headings to look up any particular information he wants to find, but this is not difficult. This is a small book which reads easily.

Watchers of the two political conventions surely noticed the tendency on the part of delegates from Puerto Rico to describe themselves as coming from our 51st state. A new book Puerto Rico, Island of Promise, is by Ruth Gruber. There are 75 clear photographs illustrating this small book and many drawings and maps, and it is interesting. We should know a little something yet about our possible 51st state, no?

The Fifth French Republic is De Gaulle's republic and it is the title of a book on the subject by Dorothy Pickles. Going back to the prelude to the Fifth Republic and progressing to De Gaulle and his problems, the author does a very thorough job of discussing her subject. Mrs. Pickles is a teacher in the London School of Economics and it is a shame that her very worthwhile book should have been done with a rather small type and an index only four pages long. If your eyes can stand it, the book will repay you for reading it.

The word is getting around that devotees of the Jack LaLanne exercise program on television are happily doing steps and bends all over. Comes now his book entitled The Jack LaLanne Way to Vibrant Good Health. If it helps you will you please let us know. We could use more of the good health bit ourselves.

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian.

Elise Glasgow

Mrs. Elise Dorothy Glasgow, 93, mother of Roy S. Glasgow, dean emeritus of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, died on Monday in her home in Pebble Beach. She had been in failing health for a long time.

Mrs. Glasgow was born in St. Louis, Missouri, on October 7, 1867. Her husband, Bruce M. Glasgow, died in 1927. She came here from St. Louis eight and one-half years ago to live with her son.

Private funeral services were held on Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Inurnment will be in Oak Grove Cemetery, St. Louis, Missouri.

Robert Duncan

Robert Steen Duncan died on Friday, after 14 years of ill health, in his home at Camino Del Monte and Pico Avenue. Until his retirement 15 years ago, he was a post office employe and had made his home here for 23 years.

Mr. Duncan was born in San Francisco on June 12, 1882, the son of John and Lillian Blaney Duncan. He was a World War I Army veteran.

Survivors are his wife, Beatrice, of Carmel, and a brother, Howard L. Duncan of National City.

Graveside services were conducted on Monday in Monterey Cemetery by the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Isabel Fisher

Mrs. Isabel Sturgis Fisher died on Sunday in her home on Lincoln Street between Santa Lucia and Thirteenth. She had been ill for a short time.

Mrs. Fisher was born on January 12, 1871, in Jersey City, New Jersey. Her husband, Leon Orr Fisher, died in 1937. Since that time Mrs. Fisher had lived here with her sister, Mrs. Edda Heath Pappel, who survives her.

Other survivors are three cousins, Mrs. Phil Hanold of East Orange, New Jersey, Dr. Fred Heath Hanold of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and John L. Hanold of Tom's River, New Jersey.

Mrs. Fisher was a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church. Funeral services, conducted by the Reverend David Hill, rector, were held in the church on Tuesday morning. Inurnment will be in Middle Village Cemetery, Long Island, New York.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Fisher may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey Bay Council, Boy Scouts of America, Crocker-Anglo Bank, Salinas.

Edna Neutzel

Mrs. Edna Colman Neutzel died on Saturday in a local hospital following a long illness. During the 14 years she resided in Carmel, Mrs. Neutzel served as president of the Carmel Republican Women's Club, worked with the USO and took an active interest in the Musical Art Club. Her home was at San Carlos Street and Alta Avenue. She was born in Des Moines, Iowa, on August 20, 1884.

Survivors are her husband, Carl Neutzel of Carmel; a son, Carl C. Carver, and a granddaughter, Christina Carver, both of Carmel.

Private funeral services were held in Mission Mortuary on Monday. Inurnment was in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

If you want your Congressman to be...

A man who knows the district

Congressman Charles M. Teague is a native of the district — born in Santa Paula in 1909. A graduate of local schools, Teague is known and supported by housewives, workingmen, farmers, and leaders of local business, industry and agriculture.

How long has Teague's opponent lived here? How well does he know the district's people and problems?

RE-ELECT Congressman TEAGUE

Committee chairmen: Elwood J. Wilson, Mrs. Thomas B. Flynn, Mrs. Joseph Kanter, Mrs. Ted Maino, O. U. Robinson.

MEMBERS OF BOTH PARTIES SAY: "RE-ELECT TEAGUE."

Robin Davey Is Mrs. Bradburn

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bradburn plan to continue their college studies at the University of Nevada. They were married on October 9 in Reno in a ceremony performed by Justice William Beamer.

They are living in San Francisco at present and Gary is working in the import and export department of I. Magnin Co. In January, Robin and Gary will move to Reno to enter college. Gary will also be a ski instructor.

Robin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davey of Carmel Valley. She graduated in 1959 from Carmel High School and studied the history of art at San Jose State College prior to her marriage.

Gary is the son of Mrs. Rita Elliott Bradburn of Reno and Douglas Bradburn of Carmel Valley. He attended the University of New Mexico and traveled abroad after graduating from Carmel High in 1958.

Katie In Italy

One doesn't have to go to Naples and die, just anywhere in Venice, Italian Lakes, Switzerland, writes Katie Schlepp, in a second post card report to friends in Carmel where she was formerly a resident.

"Very pleasant change from the soggy English summer and a two-room flat. And a coach tour, while not restful, is nevertheless rather fun. A mixed bag of English, Irish, Scots, Belgian, Welsh, South Africans and one rather weary American," she concludes.

Mrs. Sweeney Section Speaker

Members of the garden section of the Carmel Woman's Club will have a demonstration of dried flower arrangements by Mrs. De Forest Sweeney when they meet next Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Mrs. Sweeney has made a hobby of collecting and arranging natural plant materials and driftwood in California. She will give instructions on how to preserve the most suitable types of plants, wild flowers and weeds, and will show samples of their arrangement including special ones for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Mrs. Sweeney is a resident of Carmel and is active in conservation work, being a member of the Sierra Club and of the California Roadside Council. She is also a member of the League of Women Voters.

There will be tea following her talk at which Mrs. J. E. Abernethy and Mrs. C. A. Broaddus will pour. The hospitality chairman, Mrs. Carl Rasmussen will be assisted by Mrs. J. A. Bolen, Miss Philipine Crecelius, Mrs. W. L. White, and Mrs. George Hollenbeck. Mrs. E. M. Porter will decorate the tea table, and Mrs. William Eklund will be responsible for the flower arrangements in the hall.

Coucilman Whittlesey Speaker

City Councilman Eben Whittlesey will be guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Associated Blind of California, Inc. at the Anderson Hotel, San Luis Obispo, on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Juliet Bindt, president of the organization, states that Mr. Whittlesey has been invited to address the state-wide group of blind persons because, since losing his sight while a student in law school, he has not let his handicap deter him from pursuing his career as an attorney or participation in community and civic life. Mr. Whittlesey is a past president of the Monterey County Symphony Association and Carmel Lions Club. He is a music critic on the Pine Cone staff and was elected to the city council this year. He counts gardening among his many interests and a few years ago built an addition to his Carmel home himself.

C. Fremont Rider

C. Fremont Rider died on Sunday in a local hospital after a period of ill health. He came to Carmel from Spokane, Washington, in 1939 and was active in the building industry for 40 years before he retired in 1950. Among the buildings he designed and constructed here are Vagabond's House and the Rider Hotel Apartments.

Mr. Rider was born in Helena, Montana, on November 2, 1895. In recent years he lived in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club area but before that made his home in Carmel. He was a member of the Country Club and a charter member of the MPCC Senior Golf Association.

Survivors are his wife, Harriett, proprietor of The Hour Glass; a daughter, Mrs. Jack Cox of Palos Verdes Estates; two sons, Donald Rider of Kentucky and Stewart Rider who lives on Guam; a sister, Mrs. Octavia Young Haraldson of Helena, Montana; seven grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with Dr. Carleton Whitehead, pastor of the Church of Religious Science, officiating. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery.

AUTUMN-AMBER

The harvest moon overflows
Spilling neon luster
On dull silhouettes,
Dripping mellow light
On black candelabra
Of roadside trees,
Pouring bright glamor
Over drab pavements,
Over the lawn to my door.
Forgetting earth-shadows
I drink Autumn-amber
From a gold-brimming cup.

—Constance Walker

IN A LOST OCTOBER

Will you be forgotten? I forget
All but the golden moments, warmed in sun
And incensed hours of wonder that are done
Too soon. There lingers yet

The healing silence of a high, thin air
Through which we climbed alone except for wings
That brushed the heavens above too mortal things
On paths we chose to share.

Forget the gentle strength and eyes that spoke
With evocation lasting as the height
Of hills, with certainty beyond the blight
Of time—the clasp that woke

A consciousness of faith, a world of calm
Where terror could not reach, nor darkness fall,
Nor doubt encrouch? Shall I forget that all my fleeting heaven lay within your palm?

—Bessie Berg

WIND IN THE TIMOTHY

Tell of the writing of the wind with small dust,
And punctuate with the wrong sides of bright leaves.
Show that strong trees are bent in parentheses,
And indent the timothy grass of meadows.
Brighten the print of the wind as kites fly,
Until letterheads disappear into the sun.
The book of the wind is a sequel of air
And air is the power of diastoles,
Hearts expanding to match tides of morning,
Writing with pounding keys on hidden manuscripts.
Who would write with fingers what the heart has said?
There are unfinished phrases, blue essays, shadings,
Blots of tears, comic moments followed by commas,
Terminations, prayers written in self-pity or goodness,
And the writing fills faces with shadows or laugh lines,
And the winds of time bleach and indent the timothy.

—Arthur Roy Wagner

Six Carmel Students In Cast Of 12 For MPC Cradle Song

Six Carmel students of Monterey Peninsula College are in the cast for the Cradle Song, which opened Monday at the college's little theatre and will play this weekend with last performance Sunday night.

The Carmelites in the cast of 12 are: Mary Weisiger, Dinny Craviotto, Pam Gamble, Joanne Nix and Veronica Taylor. Director is Morgan Stock, drama instructor.

Each performance also features an interlude in verse by David Lang.

Curtain time is 8:30 o'clock. The nominally priced tickets are available at the box office prior to each evening's performance.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The practical significance for today of Christ Jesus' victory over death will be brought out at Christian Science churches Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death."

Scriptural readings will include the following: "Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils . . . Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen" (Mark 16:9, 14).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this will be read (46:20-24): "Jesus' unchanged physical condition after what seemed to be death was followed by his exaltation above all material conditions; and this exaltation explained his ascension, and revealed unmistakably a probationary and progressive state beyond the grave."

Pamela Beales Married

Recently married Mr. and Mrs. Allan Henry Patterson arrived back in Carmel on Tuesday after a honeymoon in Southern California and will make their home here.

Mrs. Patterson, the former Pamela Mary Beales, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beales of Carmel. She graduated from Carmel High School, also studied ballet with Joanne Nix and Eugene Loring of the American School of Dancing in Hollywood.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin of Esher, Surrey, England. He is a partner in Roger Poole Associates, a local firm of designers, attended school in England and is a member of the Pebble Beach Sports Car Club.

They were married by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray on October 9 in the Church of the Wayfarer. The reception following the ceremony was held at the Carmel Ballet Academy.

Pamela was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory slipper satin gown with a chapel train and Alencon lace banding. Lace outlined her bouquet of cream-colored roses and stephanotis and formed the tiny crown which held her veil.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Peter Baxter, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Kriegh Trevvett and Linda Baxter. Mrs. Baxter's dress was of cinnamon taffeta and the younger attendants' frocks coral pink in hue. They all carried arrangements of coral rosebuds and dusty pink carnations. Roger Poole was best man for the groom. Ushers were Peter Baxter and Albert Ohlinger.

De Camps At Eisenhower Dinner

Colonel and Mrs. C. A. De Camp are in San Francisco to attend the Commonwealth Club dinner for President Dwight D. Eisenhower this evening. Besides hearing the President's address, they expect to renew many club acquaintances of 35 years or more.

Colonel De Camp, life member of the civic study organization, is a former chairman of the club's section on occupational restrictions. This section covered relations of government to organized business, professional and worker groups.

While chairman of this original research undertaking, Colonel De Camp was accorded the largest financial appropriation ever allowed from the Commonwealth Club's Research Fund, before or since. Colonel De Camp continues his interest in civic research as a Carmel resident and takes an active interest in city problems.

Don Wild Carmel Visitor

Don Wild, butcher at Kip's Market before the war and the son of Frank Wild, who came to Carmel during the 1920s and was the butcher at Leidig's Market, located where the Crocker-Anglo Bank now stands, and Mrs. Wild were Carmel visitors on Tuesday. They now live in Napa.

Mr. Wild recalled that Pal, Carmel's unofficial town dog that died some years ago, was originally his father's pet. Later Pal was the charge of King Medeiros but still made his daily round of Carmel butcher shops. "I remember feeding him every day when I was a butcher here," Don Wild recalls.

Robert Leidigs' Golden Wedding

Today Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Leidig are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. This evening they will have dinner with friends of many years, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leidig, Mr. Leidig's brother and sister-in-law. On Sunday they will be guests of honor at a golden wedding anniversary reception in the Garden Room of La Playa Hotel given for them by their daughter, Jean, and her husband, Raymond Draper.

This evening's dinner will be at the Mission Ranch where Robert E. Leidig and Isabel Martin were married 50 years ago, October 20, 1910. At that time the ranch was Mrs. Leidig's home. Her father, John Martin, settled on the property in 1856 and brought his wife to the ranch from Canada in 1872.

In the white frame building which stands today at the Dolores Street entrance to the Mission Ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Martin brought up a family of eight sons and one daughter, Mrs. Leidig. The other living members of this family are Roy Martin of Carmel Valley and Carmel Martin, Monterey attorney.

Robert E. Leidig came to live in Carmel in 1906 and for three generations members of his family have been active in community affairs. His particular contribution to civic life has been his continued interest from its founding to the present time in the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department. At present he serves as Carmel's Fire Marshal.

This evening will be the first time Mr. and Mrs. Leidig will have returned to the Mission Ranch since it was converted to its present use.

On Sunday Susan Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Leidig's youngest grandchild, a seventh grader at Sunset School, will circulate the guest book at the reception. Other grandchildren at the party will be Wendy Draper, a student at the University of California, Michael Draper, a senior at Carmel High School and Teddy Leidig, son of the late Martin Leidig and Mrs. Bernard Roberts. His brother, Robert M. Leidig, a student at Oregon State College, will be the only grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Leidig not at the golden wedding party on Sunday.

In addition to family members, 75 friends will congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Leidig Sunday on their fifty years of married life and share their tiered golden wedding cake.

CARMEL RESELL SHOP FIRE

Twenty-one firemen took over an hour yesterday morning to control a fire at the Carmel Resell Shop, a secondhand furniture business on Mission Street between Fourth and Fifth Avenues. Damage is estimated at between $7,000 and $8,000.

The proprietor of the shop, Edward A. White, had stepped out. A cardboard carton, placed over a lighted floor heater, ignited, set fire to a mattress, and caused the blaze, according to the fire department report.

Volunteers answered the fire call at 10:05 o'clock with all trucks and laid 1400 feet of hose. One fireman, James Bannerman, was injured. A brass hose coupling fell on his hand and smashed a finger.

Owner of the building is John A. Canoles.

Ten Attend LCC Meetings

Nine city officials and one school official will attend meetings of the League of California Cities in Los Angeles, Sunday through Wednesday. Mayor Frank Putnam heads the city delegation. Other officials making the trip south are Councilman Eben Whittlesey, Planning Commissioners Florence Josselyn and J. B. Martin, Fire Chief Robert Smith, Police Chief Clyde Klaumann, Street Superintendent William Askew Jr., City Clerk Larry Rose and City Attorney John Morse.

William Wakefield, recreation director for the Carmel Unified School District and an ex-officio member of the recreation commission, will also attend the Los Angeles meetings.

only lecture rooms without laboratory space.

However, no single serious objection from the board caused the withholding of board approval, which had been scheduled for last night. The board instead approved "the direction in which the architects have been traveling," and asked for the delay only to give the plan more thought.

The board heard a financial report from George Yates who had his meeting with Dudley Swim and Francis Moulton and Stuart Mitchell on re-invertment of bond funds and set date for sale of issue. The report recommended that the school bonds voted last month in the amount of $1,995,000 be sold in a single block at the earliest possible legal date of sale, which would be between December 20 and January 10.

The board also approved a contract with architects Burde, Shaw, Kearns and Taras for work at Carmelo School, and, returning to the subject of finance, adopted a proposed 20-year redemption plan for the just voted $1,9995,000. The plan is based on an estimated increase of $2 million in assessed valuation of property per year. It will start with not more than 25 cents.

Frank Delehanty Moves His Shop

Frank Delehanty announces that his upholstery shop is now located at 219 Forest Avenue, Pacific Grove. It formerly was in the Forest Hill Shopping Center.

Before moving to the Peninsula, Mr. Delahanty worked with the movie industry in Southern California for seven years. He was in charge of rearranging and refitting fabrics to fit the varied uses found for them in movie sets.

DEAR SIR:

May we have the privilege of making an appointment to have you inspect our latest exclusive listing on one of the finest homes in Carmel.

It is a compact, prestige home of English architectural elegance. Every detail of design and construction is of the highest quality and is unquestionable in taste and workmanship.

This is not a competitively priced home but is far below the original cost of construction which was completed eight years ago.

touchdown, going the final 25 yards on a brilliant forward pass play.

For the Padres, it was the fine passing of Frank Bucher and the excellent receiving of Doyle Clayton which staved off an apparent defeat. Several times this pitch-catch duo clicked for the big third-down play which kept the Padre hopes alive. On defense, it was the tough line play of John Wilkin, Greg Hulsey, and Frank Preve plus the brilliant defensive job turned in by halfback George Pollock which finally put the damper on the swift Gaucho attack.

El Capitan, victors over Merced High by a 35-0 margin, is also undefeated this season and is rated as a heavy favorite to win its league. The Gauchos will visit Carmel next year to return the game which was scheduled on a home-and-home basis.

LIVE OAK VARSITY TOPS CARMEL JAYVEES

An improved Live Oak varsity eleven packed too much power for the hard-trying Carmel High junior-varsity last Friday night at Morgan Hill and walked off with a 26-6 win over the Little Padres. Outscored by the Carmel jayvees in the September CCAL Jamboree, the Acorns looked to be the most-improved team in the league as they blasted to touchdowns in every period.

A Dan Holman to Rick Baldwin pass good for a 32-yard touchdown gave Carmel its only score as the heavier Live Oak gang kept the Little Padres pretty well bottled up during the entire game. Terry Bishop and Rick Baldwin picked up considerable yardage on the quick slants off tackle, but the Padres were unable to put on sustained drives to the goal line. Dan Holman made good on 7 passes in 13 attempts with Pat Olmsted and Rick Baldwin doing most of the receiving.

Sturdy defensive line play by Bob Albee, Terry Tweedie, and Dennis Blasius highlighted the Little Padre defensive efforts while the blocking of Dave Harris, Bill Muscutt, and Ken Friddle gave the offensive a boost.

H. Underwood

Harold Pierce Underwood, who had been in failing health, died on Tuesday morning. The Red Cross ambulance, operated by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, answered a call to Mr. Underwood's home at Dolores Street and Twelfth Avenue, but a physician pronounced him dead before the ambulance arrived.

Mr. Underwood had lived in Carmel for 15 years. He was born in Elgin, Illinois, on April 19, 1890. He attended Dartmouth College and the University of Montana, then joined the U. S. Navy during the Mexican War. He also was a veteran of World War I and was awarded a Navy Cross for distinguished service as a volunteer during mine-sweeping duty in the North Sea after the war.

Prior to his retirement, he was employed by First National Pictures Company. He moved from Stockton to Carmel in 1945. His marriage to Marguerite Hubbell took place on June 8, 1942.

Mr. Underwood was a member of Masonic Grand Lodge of Rhode Island, the Carmel High Twelve Club and All Saints' Episcopal Church.

He is survived by his wife; two nephews, Chester and Torval Vik of Worcester, Massachusetts; and four grand-nephews and nieces.

Funeral services were held this morning in the Paul Funeral Chapel with Carmel Lodge, No. 680, F. & A. M., officiating. Burial will be in Bluff City Cemetery, Elgin, Illinois.

Art On The Peninsula

An exhibition of oil paintings and water colors by Louise Cardeiro Boyer opened at the Hidden Village Art Galleries, 220 Olivier Street, Monterey, on Monday and will remain on display through November 21. Hours are noon - 5:00 o'clock and 7:00 - midnight every day except Mondays.

Themes of most of Mrs. Boyer's work in this show are Mexican, inspired by the artist's recent visits in Valle de Bravo, southwest of Mexico City. The area is wooded and mountainous with white and adobe houses, red-roofed, and the Church of Santa Maria, important in the lives of the Indians in and around Valle de Bravo.

Louise Cardeiro Boyer was born and educated in Cambridge, Massachusetts. She is a graduate of the Boston Museum School, also studied with Xavier Gonzales and Hans Hoffman in New York and Carlos Merida in Mexico City.

She came to Carmel six years ago and since has had three one-man shows in San Francisco, one in San Jose, one in Carmel and has exhibited in the San Francisco Art Association Annual show, the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Texas, and last year at the Palace of the Legion of Honor; the De Young Museum, San Francisco, this year.

Mrs. Boyer has also had one-man shows in the East and won prizes and awards in Cambridge, Boston, Cape Cod, the Monterey County Fair and Canvas and Couture Show in Carmel Valley.

The Doris Birkland Art Studio, 700 Cannery Row, Monterey, is featuring this month ceramics by Dr. Herbert H. Sanders, head of the ceramics department of San Jose State College.

The most outstanding piece in this show is a sgrafitto plate that he exhibited at the 1958 Brussels World's Fair.

His Sunset Ceramic Book, published in 1953, and The Practical Pottery Book, 1955, have become textbooks in the ceramics field. As a Fulbright Research scholar in Japan he interviewed Japanese potters and has just finished writing a book based on this material.

Employing sgrafitto and wax resist, Dr. Sanders decorates his plates with consummate design mastery; his pitchers and vases he cloaks in wonderful textural glazes while maintaining the utilitarian reason behind his pottery.

He is originator of the famous micro-bubble glaze that imparts to his work a luminous quality appearing to shine from within the clay body.

Sculptor David Tolerton of Big Sur is represented in the show, Portraiture, showing at the Bolles Gallery in San Francisco until October 29. Helen Salz is also exhibiting in the show of portraits in oil, tempera, pastel and sculpture.

The San Francisco Museum of Art, Tuesday, opened to the public a show called Modern Masters in West Coast Collections. One hundred and thirty-five significant examples of painting and sculpture of the Western World during the past century have been selected from west coast museums and private collections, including the work of Millet, Courbet, Monet, Van Gogh, Renoir, Matisse, Kodoschka, Braque, Picasso, Modigliani, Kandinsky and Whistler.

Council Refuses To OK Zoning Ordinance

ginning and taking it up paragraph by paragraph." Councilman Eben Whittlesey had said: "I don't like a gun pointing at my head," referring to the expiration of the interim zoning ordinance on November 30.

Yet last night, the gun remained pointing and not even a start was made at "starting at the beginning and studying it paragraph by paragraph."

Mayor Putnam chose to consider only a list of objections that had arisen at public hearing with the idea in mind of making deletions and adopting the ordinance; proposals for changes or additions could be recommended to the planning commission for study and possible amendments later, he said. Making deletions only, the council may pass a zoning ordinance without the need to send it back to the planning commission for further hearings, for which there is no time unless the interim ordinance is extended.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg asked at the beginning of the study session for decision on the extension of the zoning ordinance. The mayor insisted that they find out first if the ordinance couldn't be adopted by the deletion method.

A word of warning as to the outcome came from Councilman Whittlesey when he said: "I applaud your method of procedure but there are things I feel strongly about, which are fundamental and without which I can't vote for the ordinance."

Norberg, fighting for addition of bulk control said, "I accord with Whittlesey. There are matters that should be added. We can't leave out table 2A (heights of buildings) because we want bulk control."

Table 2A and bulk control did not come up for committee vote in Mayor Putnam's schedule of events last night, which consisted of taking up sections of the ordinance about which objections had developed in the public hearing. They were:

The special zoning C-1-L for two properties on Ocean Avenue west of Lincoln. Norberg and Whitaker voted against this. Norberg thought it was not restrictive enought; Whitaker felt it should be applied to other areas as well.

The 1000 square feet site per unit for multiple dwellings. Chitwood and Whitaker voted no on the grounds that it encourages large development and penalizes the small property owner.

On the C-1-S district section all voted yes to both the permitted and "conditional" uses with the deletion of gas stations as conditional uses and the recommendation that the planning commission study further a proposal that a special zone be created for service stations (see planning commission story.)

Norberg voted no on the conditional uses in C-1-C since he feared that parking garages would develop into service stations through the auxiliary use device.

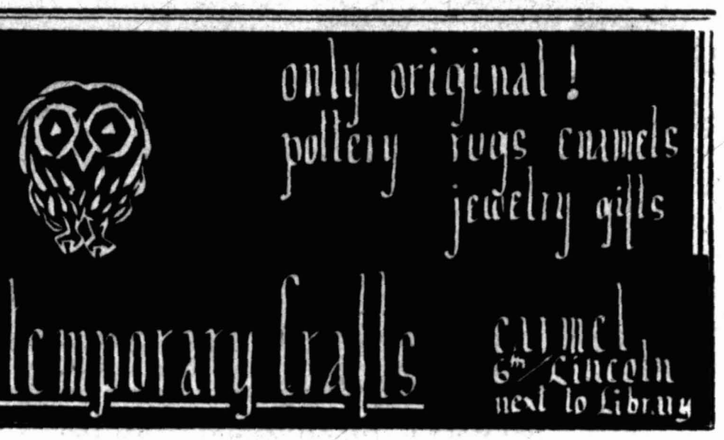

From the discussion preceding action on each of these sections one got the impression that the yes votes were given reluctantly.

The council will go to work again on the ordinance, October 28. It is hoped that this time they will see to it that they don't work with "a gun pointed at their heads," that they can work constructively and not be limited to veto powers, and that they proceed in an orderly fashion and not by grab bag approach of considering only those sections which contain elements that have brought forth citizens' protests.

The citizens are not in a position to know all the weaknesses and objectionable features of the ordinance. They look to the council, their elected representatives, to see to it that they lose nothing by replacing the old ordinance with a new one, and that some gains are made. —W. C.
